Description

LACELIS intends to assert itself as a multidisciplinary dynamic structure that meets the necessary conditions to develop, implement and evaluate sustainable education and health promotion programs. Its goal is to respond to the specific needs of the target populations and its main purpose is to incorporate the results achieved in the practices of professionals who play a central role in the production and / or dissemination of health information. It is understood that this could be an effective strategy to respond to the inadequate levels of Health Literacy in the Portuguese population.
